

THE NEXT FIVE YEARS

shai littlejohn

So, what you want is to be free
Tear down the walls that make you scream
Break the box that holds you in Wake up this life you're living in That's what my mama said to me

She said, the next five years will pass you by While you're wishing for a better life
I know you're afraid to make a move
But be brave and do what you want to do
You must do something with this time

That's when I realized two ways I could live my life
Letting dreams die or living loud
I had to decide I'd do more than survive
So, in the next five years

I'll make my mark in the sky
I won't let time pass me by You'll see me soaring high
I'll do more than survive
